RANSOME DOCK

Battersea's Ransome's Dock undergoes bespoke warehouse renovation.

Occupying Victoria Beckham's former studio and two floors below Toni Mascolo's (Toni & Guy) London residence are two of the finest luxury apartments to hit Battersea's property market this year.

The three-bedroom apartments are located on the first floor of an impressive former industrial warehouse in Ransome's Dock. The bespoke apartments were delivered by luxury developers CLPD.

Adjacent to Vivienne Westwood's fashion house, and positioned in the shadow of Norman Foster's iconic architectural practice; the two luxury apartments are the latest addition to this exclusive development synonymous with the capital's glitterati.

From concept to completion, the project took just seven months to accomplish. The apartments were finished to the highest standard and featured a consortium of high end brands including bathrooms by Rexa and kitchens by Minacciolo.

The lighting for the project, by Deltalight, was designed to be both alluring and playful. This was achieved by selecting various light fittings, in an array of colours to be used in each zone. This not only assisted in differentiating the areas but also to give character and ambience. With exposed concrete ceilings in the living areas it was decided to use surface mounted fittings making a feature of the cabling to encompass the industrial theme of the apartments.

Ransome's Dock is well appointed for the best of south west London living. A short stroll from the bars, cafes and restaurants of Battersea Bridge Road, the properties are in easy proximity to local leisure opportunities and are just a stone's throw from the Albert Bridge, which transports residents into the heart of Chelsea.

Offering the privacy of a gated community, Ransome's Dock boasts the utmost in discretion for the most discerning of residents.
